The type of wine you choose to drink can say a lot about you. Below are the nine main categories of wine and some examples of varietals within them (in case you recognize wine more by the grape than its category). Find out what liking (and loving) one of these types of wines might say about your personality, your favorite type of movie or your next wine-inspired vacation.

Rosé wine

Varietals: Rosé is not one type of grape, it can be made from different grapes (including grenache, pinot noir and sangiovese) and can be sweet or dry.
